AUTHENTIC
DETROIT STYLE PIZZA

Thank you for choosing
Loui Loui's Authentic Detroit Style Pizza

I was born and raised in Detroit, Michigan. My family moved to Louisville when I was 11 years old – so to be clear, Louisville is home (it's in our name). When I was growing up and later when visiting my birthplace, I got a taste of what I considered to be the best tasting pizza on the planet. I started Loui Loui's to bring these tastes to you.

So what is Detroit Style Pizza you ask?

The origin of this pizza style begins when it was baked in assembly line parts pans following the end of WWII. The pans we use today look much like the pans that won the war and are also special because of the way our pizza bakes around the edges – cheesy, crunchy and slightly charred.

Did I mention we make just about everything in-house on a daily basis? That's because the staff at Loui Loui's, my partners and I, are passionate about the quality of our ingredients – nothing beats fresh, hand-made and artisan-style!

Try it for yourself and find out what most Detroiters have known for a very long time – this pizza is like no other and once you get a taste for it, it will be hard for you to go back to your old pizzeria.
